

GAMING GUIDE

The winning bet for payments

• Payment acceptance • Conversion improvement • Supporting regulatory changes

The power of one payments partner

Customers want to play not pay. However, beneath the surface, the payments reality is a highly fragmented landscape of different domestic debit schemes, alternative payment methods and protocols. If you're operating internationally and across multiple channels, paying and getting paid can quickly become complex, time-consuming and resource-intensive. Consolidating relationships into one global payments partner helps cut costs, drive revenue and increase player satisfaction.

Many payment methods

Reach more players by offering more than 120 popular payment methods via a single interface (e.g. international card brands, local schemes, bank-funded transfers and alternative payments).

Many currencies

Remove all barriers to play by offering payment in local currencies. We support many currencies, plus we make multi-currency settlement easy for you.

Many countries

We offer seamless payment behind the scenes with the requisite licenses, memberships and acquirer connections for true global coverage in practice as well as on paper.

Many channels

We provide a modular, configurable system which helps you launch quickly and turn on additional sales channels and markets post-launch, if you need to.

Many experts

Technology is important, but it's only part of the solution. Our expert team understand the complexities and needs of gaming operators. We help you improve conversion and fraud rates, optimise treasury practices, configure reports to extract maximum value from your data amongst other things.

Managed into one

• Statement • Settlement date • Rate • Report suite • Contract

PXP delivers a many- into-one proposition with a single statement, settlement date and set of rates and reports to minimise back-office reconciliation — all in a single contract.

Consolidating relationships into one global payments partner helps cut costs, increase revenue and player satisfaction.
